

Military Library Virtual Training Summit

Topic Proposal

Would you like to be a presenter? Do you have a recommendation for a topic or presenter? Fill out this form. Thank you!

Mark your calendars for an inclusive, FREE online training event 12-15 September 2023. This event is open to all library personnel across the Department of Defense, including Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, and all DOD agencies and activities, as well as those in related or overlapping fields (archives, history, education, knowledge management, etc.) at all levels. It is open to military, civilian, contractor, and local national personnel worldwide.

The intent of the Military Libraries Virtual Training Summit is to provide an outstanding professional training and development opportunity for DOD librarians, library technicians, archivists, and other knowledge workers and information professionals. Training sessions will be relevant, interactive, engaging, and support competencies to meet the training needs of librarians and other professionals across the DOD enterprise.

The event is hosted by the Army Library Program in collaboration with the Military Libraries Community of the Special Libraries Association.
