Lightning Talk Topics and Presenters:

“Introducing IDC Pathways Leadership Development Programs”

Eddy Long, IDC Program Director for Pathways Leadership Development Programs, and Ann Whiting, IDC Account Director for Higher Education and State & Local Government

Pathways is an accelerated leadership program designed to provide solution oriented programming reinforced with mentoring and coaching to propel your career and serve as a platform for growth. Our unique offerings and proven methodologies can help accelerate your personal and professional growth — advancing your career to the next level.

“Learning How to Successfully Use Hybrid Event Technology for Library Speaker Series Events at Christian Brothers University”

Mark W. Duncan, Instruction & Outreach Librarian, Christian Brothers University

Mark Duncan will share how Plough Library at Christian Brothers University has successfully used hybrid technology for library speaker events and how others can adapt the setup for their specific needs and situations.

“Creating Partnerships and Collaborations: Furthering Outreach and Engaging the Community You Serve”

Rosa Rodriguez, Outreach Librarian at the California State University San Marcos University Library

Rosa will share strategies for establishing collaborative partnerships to create unique outreach programs which make access to library services more equitable. The lightning talk will discuss best practices, potential benefits, and challenges in leveraging the resources of the library and its partners to host, organize, and promote library outreach services.

“The Graduate”

David Ballantine, San Jose State University

David graduated from San Jose State University with an MLIS degree earlier this year. He will share what post graduate experience has been like and his progress in searching for a new job. A most valuable activity has been networking, which has come in large part with his volunteering at the Socal SLA. David will offer tips and motivation for others who may be in similar shoes.

“Coming Full Circle: Charting a Course in Life and Libraries”

Keith Locantore, Research Impact Librarian, NOAA (National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration)

Keith will share his journey to a career in libraries, with thoughts and reflections on lessons learned both in school and as he’s progressed along his career path.

“Tips for Entering, Re-Entering, or Making a Career Transition in the Library and Info Services Field”

Kim Dority, SJSU iSchool Career Consultant for Students and Alumni, Dority @ Associates, Inc.

Kim Dority, MLIS, is founder and president of Dority & Associates, an information strategy and content development company. In addition to her work with Dority & Associates, she also works with LIS professionals to help them create optimal career paths, and is the official Career Advisor for the San José State University iSchool and the USC-Marshall School of Business MMLIS program.

“SUNY Exploring Emerging Technologies for Lifelong Learning and Success (#EmTechMOOC)”

Robin Sullivan, Teaching & Learning Strategist at University at Buffalo

Learn how libraries located anywhere in the world can take advantage of the State University of New York (SUNY) Exploring Emerging Technologies for Lifelong Learning and Success (#EmTechMOOC) < <http://suny.edu/emtech> >. EmTech is an online learning opportunity targeted to the needs of college students, faculty, and anyone interested in learning about the value and implications of using emerging technologies for personal and professional growth.

“Reset Your Thinking: the Role of the Cataloger in the 21st Century Technical Services Department”

Jaye Lapachet, OCM Knowledge Manager, Genetech

Jaye is a detail-oriented knowledge manager and professional librarian experienced working in a variety of organizational settings requiring strong creative problem solving, technical and interpersonal skills. She uses her skills to liaise across departments to build consensus and provide support for projects and training. In this talk, she will explain why cataloging is really 21st century metadata, and Tech Services is the crucial infrastructure that allows Reference to run smoothly.

“Report back from the Information Science Summit”

JonLuc Christensen - Records Management Specialist and FOIA Lead at the Jet Propulsion Library

The Information Science Summit will take place October 28th in Pittsburgh, PA and focus on "Innovation and Trends in Information Science - Practice, Research, and LIS Education". JonLuc will be in attendance and also be a keynote speaker. He will share his key takeaways from the event.

“Success vs. Burnout”

Kayla Kuni (she/her/hers), Associate Director of Libraries at Pasco-Hernando State College

Burnout, especially in librarianship, is easy to slip into. This lightning round presentation will discuss common causes of burnout and some potential remedies should one find themselves feeling like they are experiencing burnout.
